MURDERED, THEN CREMATED TWO OLD WOMEN NEAR CHARLOTTE

MEET DESTRUCTION.

They Lived Alone Near the Roadside Five Miles from Charlotte and Were Supposed to Have Money-Slain While at Supper, the House Ransacked and Their Bodies Burned in the Kitchen. Charlottee, N. C., Nov. 21.-Two old ladies, Violet Colley, aged 75, and her niece, Jane Cath Colley, who lived alone in a house on a main thoroughfare, five miles from Charlotte, were last night murdered, robbed and their bodies burned. The old ladies were generally reported to be wealthy, and it is known they had a good deal of money. They had lived a retired life for years and seldom ventured away from home, not even to the city except when business compelled a visit.

The house which they occupied stood within 159 feet of the roadside. Near it was a small building which they used as a kitchin and in which they kept their stores. People passing along the road this morning noticed that the small house had been burned. There was not a sign of life about the place, and an investigation showed that the dwelling had been ransacked from top to bottom, indicating that a most thorough search had been made for the money which the old ladies were supposed to have kept in the house. Bureaus, cabinets and desks had been opened and their contents strewn about. Every nook and corner of the of the small building revealed two burned stumps, the bodies of Miss Colley and her niece.

The supposition is that the old ladies were attacked while they were at supper, after which their residence was sacked and the house in which their bodies lay was fired. For years past they had been known to be accumulating money and had probably saved up $1,200. There is absolutely no clue to the perpetrators of the deed. is are using every effort to get a River. of the murderers.

Robbers Hold Up a Fast Train.

By Wire to The Telegram. Little Rock, Nov. 22.-The northbound Iron Mountain Cannon Ball passenger train was held up at Gifford last evening. Robbers had covered the track with ties and built a huge fire in the centre of the pile. The engineer tried to pull through but the ties caught in the pilot and stopped the engine. The robbers failed to break the Express safe. They got out of dynamite, but got six hundred dollars from the local safe. There were six robbers.

BISHOP'S GUIDANCE. The Sermon Last Night-The Work of Today Given in Full-A Fine Collection for the Galveston Methodists Who Will Not Desert Their Post-Committee Appointed to Consider Buying the Conference Organ-Report of the Greensboro Female College-Character of Many Preachers Passed Upon-Rev. Geo. Stuart Preached This Afternoon.

The exercises at West Market Street Methodist church last night began with a song service conducted by Mr. Henry Spence, the representative of the Publishing house at Nashville' The singing was delightful, both by choir and congregation, under the capable leadership. When the hymn, 'Leaning on the Everlasting Arms," was being sung it was good to be there. Methodists are a singing people from away back to the day of the Wesleys and last night's exercises proved this greatest of all drawing powers pertains to them yet to an eminent degree. Messrs, Spence, Dr. Betts. R. M. Phillips and Rev. E. K. McLarty as a singing quartette were superb, and delightfully rendered the song, "The Riches of Love," after which the entire congregation joined in singing with inspiring effect, 'All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." Rev. T. A. Boone read the 144th lesson, and in a fervent prayer asked for a blessing on the exercises.

Dr. Rowe announced that Dr. E. O. Brown had been called to Atlanta, but Dr. J. D. Hammond, Educational Seretary, would preach.

Text, Psalm 144: 11, 12-"Rid me. and deliver me from the hand of strange children, whose mouth speaketh vanity, and their right hand is a right hand of talsehood. That our sons may be as plants grown up in their youth; that our daughters may be as corner stones, polished after the similitude of a palace." It is a great road deal, and will open an entirely text and the sermon was a master-The neighborhood people are greatly new field for the Southern Railway, its piece. He spoke of David as a warrior and a statesman. Carlyle compares Cromwell to David, "Deep calleth unto deep." They were men who had ideas and dared to throw their very existence into the scale. David had conquered for other generations. That should be the work of the Church looking out for the young. David was a bloody man when conditions required it. His people had neighbors who were bad. David wanted to be delivered from them so that Israel's sons and daughters might grow as plants and be as corner stones. He was lifted above the torpid and selfish people of his day. He called on God for power, as he was desirous to be rid of his enemy.

The speaker couldn't say whether David was a Republican or a Democrat, or how he stood on finance, but he prayed to be delivered from the hands of strange children. David's neighbors were idolaters, sensualists, bad in every sense. The speaker saw much of this in the present day and longed for a David or a Cromwell to deliver. Corrupt combinations, obscene literature, intemperance etc., are about and do their deadly work. It is impossible for the Church to do what she ought with all this to fight. It was the sin of David's neighbors which set him in warfare against this people. He was a warrior for the coming generation and the young of

The speaker doubted the wisdom of the Church in first looking after the hardened. His idea is to look after the young. Get them saved so they may be as growing plants and polished corner stones. Don't think about the dead, but the living. Christ taught, "Don't weep for me, weep for yourselves." The things which should stir to the depths are the most commonplace in the church. Strange world. Men accumulating wealth and letting the children die. Men caring more for knowledge of horses than for child culture. There are a million and a half Methodists in the Southern Church, but not a half million are coming forward with thank offerings at the close of this century. China, priest ridden Brazil, Japan, Corea etc., entitled to them may then receive them. tary (Miss M. B. Thomas) yesterday. are giving two or three dollars per member to help the 20th Century fund for Christian education. These who have, compared with us, nothing to be thankful for, are thankful; while we who have so much to be thankful for, are not thankful.

The Doctor's sermon was an eyeopener. This is but an imperfect synopsis. His whole plea was in behalf of the young, and sparkled with gems of rare truth. It ought to be a tonic to those who heard it. He closed by saying that he believed every member of the M. E. Church, South, would come in yet with his thank offering and put it in the 20th Century fund.

The choir and congregation sang, "I Love to Tell the Story," and the service closed with the benediction by Dr. Hammond.

The minutes of yesterday were read and approved. J. A. Stikeleather, alternate, was substituted in place of Col. J. W. Flowers, a regular delegate. Marseilles, Nov. 22.-Amid the thunder of French and Dutch cannon and the cheers of frenzied thousands, former president Kruger landed in this city at 10:55 this morning. The national salute of twenty-one guns were fired by French forts and returned gun for gun by the Dutch cruiser Gilderland. The landing place where Kruger first set foot on French soil was covered by a red carpet. The tribune reserved of the city of Marseilles, surmounted The Secretary called the roll of by the Transvaal and Orange Free State flags.

The whole route from the landing to the hotel was lined with people and a tremendous ovation was given President Kruger, who repeatedly raised his silk hat and bowed his acknowledments. Replying to the address of welcome he spoke in a low voice. but accompadied his words with energetic movements of his hat, which he held in his right hand. After thanking the committee for the warmth of the reception and expressing gratitude for the sympathy received from the French tainment at the College, Friday at 4 government, he spoke of the war as terrible and barbarously conducted by the British. He said: "I have fought with savages, but the present war is even worse. We will never surrender. We are determined to fight to the last extremity and if the republics of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State lose their independence it will be because they have lost every man, woman and child."

RECEPTION BY MRS. M'ALLISTER.

A Most Happy Occasion in Honor of Mrs. G. Arthur Rankin.

Mrs. Alexander Worth McAllister entertained yesterday afternoon at her nome on West Market street in honor of the bride, Mrs. Mrs. G. Arthur Rankin. From four to six this lovely home was filled with representative Greensboro society women.

The darkened rooms, lighted by numbers of beautiful lamps, were attractively decorated with trailing bamboo and Chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Robert Vaughn and Mrs. A. M. Scales welcomed the guests in the . hall, and in the east parlor Mrs. Mc-Alister and Mrs. Rankin and Misses Wood and Carraway received, while in the west parlor Mrs. W. E. Allen very gracefully poured tea.

The dining room, where Mrs. Clark Porter did the honors, was particularly pretty with its profusion of pink and smilax. Little Misses Paisley Ellington, Kate Tate and Lizzie Crawford served the refreshments.

The Social Card Club will meet with Miss Irving Scales next Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. H. B. Marley Dead.

Dr. Henry B. Marley, who has been at death's door for some time, passed away this afternoon. Dr. Marley was for many years a successful physician, his health of late years not permitting him to continue his profession. He was about seventy years old formes out to est.

NOTES FROM CONFERENCE.

At an impromptu Missionary Conference yesterday afternoon, Dr. Lambeth, missionary secretary, repeated his statement that the recent uprising in China was anti-foreign rather than anti-missionary. Dr. Lambeth read strong statements to this effect from ex-Minister Charles Denby, Minister Conger and others. The speaker added, that it is to Mr. Conger's everlasting credit, that after all other representatives of foreign powers had agreed to abandon the native converts to their fate, he insisted that he would not do so; that if the missionaries would stick to their converts that he would stand by both. These points are interesting in view of the criticisms of our government by our own people as to its course in China.

Dick Morse, of Charlotte, spoke to the preachers in front of the church yesterday afternoon, exhibiting certain cha-ts intending to show the physiological effect of whiskey on the human system. Morse had quite a patient and attentive audience. Holding up a chart, he stated: "This is the stomach of a man who has just taken a few drinks. He didn't mean to get drunk; oh, no. He just went down here to Charlotte to the -- banquet and just got filled up with fun."

The unwary among the Conference visitors are warned that the gentleman, to whom they speak as "Dr. Yates" is Col. Levi M. Scott, a lawyer of this city, a most excellent man, not a Methodist at all,-certainly not a Methodist Presiding Elder.

It was like "good news from a far country" to see our friend Dr. Charles Weaver among the Conference visitors. Dr. Weaver is one of the most scholarly young men in the church in this State. As the president of Rutherford College, he bids fair to render the church and State some service and to make good the hopeful expectations of his friends.

There will be few candidates for admission this year. All who will apply have been doing supply work. One of the members of the Conference said yesterday evening that a man couldn't work for nothing, no matter what his calling, and that further sub-division of the work is scarcely possible. The salaries on some of the workers now are pitifully small.

Dr. Dan Atkins, the Presiding Elder of the Asheville district, is one of the strong men of the Conference. He is just closing his fourth year and will of course go to a new work next year. Dr. Atkins is remembered in Greensboro as the first editor of the North Carolina Christian Advocate, when all of the papers were consolidated. The district or pastorial charge which sesures Dr. Atkins will get a level headed, sensible, deeply pious man.

Rev. R. G. Barrett, the pastor of Epworth church, Concord, is an unusual man. Mr. Barrett has served in all the varied work of the Conference. · Years ago as a Presiding Elder of the Statesville district, he was a fine success. Recently he was appointed to West End, Statesville, a charge with no member, no house, no anything. In a short while he had his congregation organized, his church built and plans for a parsonage under way. More recently still, he has raised a M.R. Farrar, Established 1868 Wm.G. Frasier, Prop. debt on Epworth Church, Concord, and leaves that congregation free of debt. Mr. Barrett is a man of affairs. His friends say if he had not chosen the ministry and instead had directed his efforts in his own behalf, he would be a millionaire.

One of the staunch men of the Conference is Dr. J. A. Reagan, a lay member. Dr. Reagan is one of the founders of Weaverville College, and has watched it with anxiety and pleasure a fortune seemed against the college or in its favor. North Carolina needs many men of his type of loyalty. Dr. Reagan is the father of Mrs. E. M. Goolsby, of Greensboro.

A New York dispatch says "the weather yesterday was less favorable for a good horse show attendance, but the crowds in the garden were almost as large as on the opening day. is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking spot, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

And ours is the place to get the stuff.

To the Editor of The Telegram: In reply to your editorial of November 13, asking what shall we do to promote the prosperity of Greensboro, and advance our prestige as a business, educational and industrial centre, I will say to begin with: But there-how many things there are to begin with; so many, in fact, that out of the multitude that suggest themselves, it is hard to pick out some of the most needed.

I think I am safe in saying, however, that a thoroughly equipped fire department is one of the most requisite essentials. Then, it is hardly necessary to add that we need a better waterworks system; but as the war over these two subjects is of such recent date, that the grass has not had time to grow over the grave wherein the hatchet is buried, and the clouds of smoke from the peace pipe have hardly rolled away, will not touch on these lines, but-

d to build

. but true

Putting those two subjects aside let us say that if Greensboro is going to call herself a city, why don't she ape, city ways and customs?

For instance, where! oh, where! in these United States will you find a city that turns off her electric lights every time the moon shines, or the fireflies are very thick?

Do you think that a stranger, looking around the city with a view to locating here, would be very much impressed with its business-like bustle and "get there," if after nightfall he had to wander around by the light of the moon, because Greensboro had an economical turn of mind? All the plausible things he had heard of her future prosperity, and all the arguments that had been brought forward to convince him that this was the mecca toward which all feet were treading, would be lost sight of by the time he had stumbled over some crossing on our back streets, or stubbed his toe over one of the many bricks that stick up in the air out of the sidewalk on Elm street, to trip the unwary toward

Or, if perchance he hires a carriage to drive around the city and look it over, very naturally he drives along Elm street first; and just as he is "rubbernecking" at some business block, presto! there comes a crash, and for an instant he thinks he has run into a stone wall; but the driver quiets his fears by saying, "It ain't nothing, one of them wheels went down in that there hole," where some of the stones in the pavement have evidently sunk below

It is impossible to drive more than a block or two on Elm street without being jolted by the wheels dropping into these holes. And to a stranger, it doesn't say much for the "up-to-dateness" of Greensboro, when her main street is in such a condition.

These are small matters, you say? Cranted, every word of it. But it is a number of small matters that make a whole. And while we are talking of keeping prosperity in Greensboro, we must include the small matters. As for us, we are accustomed to the holes in the street, the uneven bricks of the sidewalk, and to groping along at night, so we don't mind these things. But with strangers it is different. Again, there are the sidewalks, or rather lack of them. In dry, sunshiny weather, clay sidewalks will answer very well; but during even a short spell of rainy weather they leave a great deal to be desired. In fact, on some of the residence streets, as Walker avenue, for instance, after a hard winter's rain, it would take an expert where the mud of the road left off, and the mud of the sidewalk began. In fact, with hardly an exception, the sidewalks of Greensboro are as yet like the world itself before the first day, without form and void.

Then there is the long talked of public library. Efforts have been made along this line at various times, but nothing seems to have been accomplished. To quote from your editorial: "A city's growth depends upon the action of its citizens." So with this well formulated fact in mind, why much needed library.

is, her citizens are divided among themselves.

Then there is the other faction who strenuously oppose anything new. What was good enough for their grand-fathers and fathers, is good enough for them.

It is a hard matter to turn many and diverse minds into a single channel. But this is the task poor Greensboro will have to undertake if she wishes to keep to the front, graduate from her probationary period, into a full fledged city.

The subjects mentioned here are only a few of the smaller matters Greensboro would do well to attend to, and despite the fact that they seem of very little moment, in promoting the future business interests of Greensboro, you would be surprised if you went to the trouble of questioning strangers coming into the city, to find what an impression these very matters make on their minds.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1900.

NICHOLAS,

For some time the papers have been saying that the Czar of Russia is suffering with typhoid fever. It seems now, though, that he is out of danger. It was at one time reported that he had been poisoned, but there was no truth in it. A dispatch last week said that at Copenhagen his illness was attributed to overwork in connection with the Chinese crisis. Nicholas is now thirty-two years old and of very delicate constitution. His known physical weakness, coupled with the serious character of his illness, for a time created the greatest uneasiness. This naturally caused speculation as to what would be the result of his death. The opinion is that it would be a world-wide calamity at this time.

We are slow to believe that the life or death of any one man, ordinarily, could profoundly affect the world. But this is an extraordinary case. Russia is the most powerful country on the globe. Its ruler has the most unlimited power. Yet today that country under the hand of its young, frail ruler, is the balance wheel of Europe, and consequently of the world. The prevailing American opinion of Russia is of the "Man that Walks like a Bear." Yet, as a matter of fact, that country is the sole positive peace influence in Europe. As a London dispatch remarks, "it is generally felt at the present critical stage of international affairs that eyen a temporary weakening of the influence of so favorable a factor in the maintenance of the world's peace justifies grave anxiety, especially as the Czar is regarded in Europe as a kind of counterpoise to Emperor William. Fublic anxiety will therefore remain strained until the none too robust monarch recovers. In political circles any other issues of his majesty's malady is regarded as a nightmare."

Suppose, for instance, that the two Young Men of Europe, Nicholas, pacific, calm, conscientious, undisputed ruler of the vastest country of the world, whose word is the law, and William, Emperor of Germany, bloodthirsty, vain, erratic, seeking martial fame, but limited in his resources and power, were to exchange places? The world's peace would be smashed in six weeks. Russia and her ruler are not so had as they have been painted, we believe. That they should have originated The Hague Peace Conference is sufficient testimony to this.

These modern combinations are more or less in the formative state just now and there is always confusion in revolution, whether it be in the political world or in the business world. But the people have learned the great advantage of combination and co-operation and inter-dependence, and with the principle established the details will be worked out in due season, and the crooked things made straight .-Richmond Times.

This paper has taken the position that what The Times calls the principle of combination, co-operation and inter-dependence, was now being established, and what the public needed now was a clearer enunciation and understanding of that principle. The country does not need wholesale and indiscriminate denunciation. It needs enlightenment and help towards re-adjustment, and not that the principle shall be defeated, because if it is a natural law it cannot be for long time, but a guarantee that in its name no injustice shall be wrought. And toards that end we need discussion, enlightenment, and understanding.

Mr. Hanna has laid out for the coming Congress the work of passing the ship subsidy bill, the Nicaraguan canal bill, an army re-organization bill, and the reduction of the war taxes. There is not much certainty that all these things will be accomplished, but if this Congress succeeds in opening the way for the construction of the Nicaraguan canal, it will have won a fair title to immortality, as worldly immortality goes.

In the list of names of gentlemen who have joined a newly organized newspaper club in Raleigh we note that of the Honorable Julius Cæsar Logan Harris. May we inquire what publication the Honorable Julius Cæsar has attached himself to?

In his speech this morning at Marseilles Oom Paul appeared to be discoursing via his distinguished chapaev, as well as using that famous in strument as a baton.

It seems that the anti-vice devotees in Chicago and Philadelphia have taken a hint from New York and gone to work, too.

THE WORK OF THE CONFERENCE

committee-Jordan, Mann and Blair, on this subject.

R. B. Miller, alternate in the place of Dr. Goode from the Shelby district, was seated.

Question 20, "Are all the preachers blameless in their life and official administration?" was resumed. R. S. Abernathy, J. F. Craven, H. F. Wiley and James Wilson passed examination of character and were referred to the committee on Conference Relations, for the Supernumerary Relation, C.M. Anderson, J. W. Bird, W. H. Cooper, S. H. Helsaback, T. H. Edwards, W. B. Lyda, L. T. Mann, R. W. Pickens, Z. Rush, M. V. Sherrill, J. C. Thomas, T. L. Triplett, J. A. Wiggins, passed examination of character, and were referred to committee on Conference Relation, for the Superannuated Relation J. W. Strider passed and asked to be placed on the effective list. J. C. Troy asked that the reference of his name to the committee be deferred for the present.

The preachers on the Winston district were called. T F Marr, W C Wilson, W H Willis, J C Mock, C A Word, B A York, Z Paris, W H Perry, M H Hoyle, P E Parker, H H Jordan, W H L McLaurin, M. H. Vestal, W. M. Curtis, D. H. Pegram, L. A. Fal's, made reports and passed examination of character. Rev. J. D. Hammond, D. D., Educational Secretary, Messrs. Cobb, of the Missionary Work, Bradfield, of Galveston, Texas, Triplett, and Evangelist George Stuart were introduced to the Conference. A communication in regard to the proposed State Reformatory was received and referred to a special committee, consisting of Messrs. Chreitz berg, Boone and Leith.

Leave of absence was granted to

Rev. P. J. Carraway. Rev. Mr. Bradfield the Methodist minister, of Galyeston, made a very thrilling and effective statement concerning the flood and the loss of life and property incident thereto. Mr. Bradfield said Galveston would rebuild again but that it would not be safe. But people are going to live there and die there, and therefore, there shall be no surrender on the part of Methodism, and she must be there to look after those living and dying. The Methodist flag must not be pulled down. Mr. Bradfield is pastor of St. John's Church in that city. His flock of more than 300 members was reduced by more than 100. His church and another, have combined and will build a $15,000 edifice. The Bishop said he would add nothing to what had been said. He insisted on a liberal respone. Subscriptions and a collection were taken, amounting to $433.35. A very fine gift indeed. No more liberal men than Methodist preachers. Rev. W. R. Ware offered the following resolution: In view of the fact that our Southern Methodist churches in Galveston, Texas, were destroyed by the great flood which swept over the city during this year; therefore, Resolved, That we as a Conference, request the pastors of the various charges in our bounds, to take a collection in their churches at as early a rebuilding their churches. The resolution was adopted.

After Dr. Weaver, of Asheville, bad made his report this morning, which, by the way, was excellent, as were all the reports from the elevated city, the Bishop made an impromptu talk on the subject of the administration of discipline. He dia not advise running the church members out, but to recover him from his backsliden state by working on him in the spirit of the Master. The Bishop declared that when a penitent sinner came to the altar the backslidden preacher had something on his hands that he was not in shape to handle. Did not think it wise in a preacher to preach a sermon on the ball room, the theater and the card table. All these evils come from prayerless homes. His idea appeared to be for the pastors to administer discipline in such a way that the homes would become homes of prayer. Nobody likely went from an evening prayer to a ball room or theater or card table. We expect the good Bishop is about right.

Dr. Rowe made a most excellent report. The Bishop asked of his people were much worldly. He replied, "Not when they are with me." Dr. Rowe said he would not tell all the good things about West Market, as some one might be seeking his place.

Our Methodist evangelist, Rev. George Stuart, preached to a great audience at 3 p. m.

WHITE CAP OUTRAGE.

A Frail Woman Taken Out and Lashed With Buggy Whips.

States ville Landmark. One of the cruelest outrages that we have read of in a long time was recently perpetrated at Blacksburg, S. C A prominent citizen of that town, Mr. L. H. Helland, lost his wife and was left with several children. He got along as best he could with his domestic affairs, employing colored help. A neighbor, a Mrs. Elmore, took an interest in the family and assisted in Mr. Holland's domestic affairs and in caring for his children. Finally Mr. and Mrs. Elmore moved away from Blacksburg but Mrs Elmore made frequent visits back there, stopping with Mr. Holland's family and sometimes staying several days and nights. This suggested a scandal, and thereupon a mob of white caps called at the house early one evening while Holland was at his business and took the woman, who is described as a frail, delicate creature, into the streets and whipped her with buggy whips. The conduct of Mrs. Elmore was such as to give rise to talk, and she and Holland are blameworthy for not avoiding the appearance of evil. But the action of the self-constituted regulators was a cruel cutrage without exwrong-doing-and the evidence is not 1012 East Market street. conclusive that they were-Holland was the party to be dealt with. He was a man and he was responsible. Notice of Incorporation The cowards who attacked a frail and helpless woman, even if she were guil-

LADIES' RUSSIAN BLOUSE, NO. 8145.

The Russian blouse of today is far more attractive than those worn several years ago. The latest style of blouse shown in the accompanying illustration is made of dark green camel's hair cloth, trimmed with bands of Persian embroidery.

The blouse is mounted on a glove-fitting lining, which closes in the centre front and reaches to the waist line only. The adjustment is made with shoulder and underarm seams, the back fitting smoothly across the shoulders, and the fullness at the waist distributed in small gathers at the center.

The fronts are full at the neck and blouse stylishly on the narrow belt. The right side crosses over and fastens on the left under a band of trimming. The shouler seams are covered with narrow straps, the points extending over the sleeves. The collar closes at the side.

The sleeves are shaped with inside seam only. They display comfortable fullness at the shoulders, fitting the arm closely to the elbow. They flare widely at the lower edge and are drawn in close to the hand on a narrow wristband.

The blouse may be made to extend over the hips as illustrated, the style being particularly becoming to slender figures, or it can terminate at the waist line, the pattern providing perforations for the correct shaping.

Flannel, serge, cashmere, Henrietta, covert or ladies' cloth make smart waists in this mode with silk, velvet or stitched cloth bands for

To make the blouse in the medium size will require three and onehalf yards of forty-four inch material, with two and one-half yards of trimmings. The pattern, No, 8145, is cut in sizes for a 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inch bust measure.

THE TELEGRAM will receive and forward orders for all patterns described in this column. The price is only ten cents for each pattern to cover cost of mailing and handling. In ordering fill blank below and send to The Telegram office: Please send me pattern No

Intolerance no Longer Leads. Greensboro Patriot.

We believe that intolerence in al things is passing away. Here in North Carolina men have more respect for the opinions of others than they formerly had, no matter on what subjects they may disagree. Still the spirit of intolerence exists to too great an extent, and don't beguile yourself day. into thinking that it is to be found only in an opposing party or sect. The Gold Leaf speaks truly when it says: 'Not all the fellows, intolerant of the opinions of others, are housed in any one political party in North Carolina." But the day of the "little fellows" is passing. The intolerent man can no longer be a leader in North Carolina.

RHEUMATISM - CATARRH - DIS EASES CURED BY B. B. B.

It is the deep-seated, obstinate cases of catarrh and rheumatism that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments, doctors, sprays, liniments, medicated air, blood purifiers, have failed to do, B. B. always promptly reaches the real cause and roots out and drives from the bones, joints, mucuous membrane, and entire system the specific poison in the blood that causes rheumatism and catarrh. B. B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure ond so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 Bs.

For sale by druggists and Howard Gardner, in Greensboro, at $I per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. To prove our faith in B. B. B. we will send a trial bottle free to sufferers, so they may test the remedy at our expense. Address Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

CHINESE NAMES.

Bach Person in That Country Has Several, Which Change with Advancing Years.

Every Chinaman has a surname, which is supposed to date back nearly, if not quite, to the epoch of the great Emperor Hwangte, 2697 B. C. The Chinese, says the Philadelphia Record, pride themselves much on the possession of these surnames, and no foreigner, not even a countryman of the reignig Manchu sovereign, is allowed to borrow them, or even officially to use his own surname in China.

In addition to this surname-or "sing," as is the Chinese term for itevery Chinaman possesses one or more personal names. In his infant days a designation known as his "milk name" is conferred upon him and subsequently, on arriving at the age of puberty, a "ming," or cognomen, is given him. In after life, more especially if he becomes an author, he takes a "tsze," or literary appellation, and it is by this that he is afterward best known in everyday life and in the literary world. Often he adds one or more "haou," or pseudonyms, to his older names, which not infrequently he uses on the title page of his works; thus considerably adding to the difficulty of identify-

The well known philisopher Choo He affords an illustration of the number of names which a Chinaman may accumulate. To his "sing," Choo, was added his "ming," He. Subsequently he adopted the "tsze," Yuen-hwuy, and Chung-hwuy, and at different times afterward added the pseudonyms Hwuy-gan, "The dark cottage;" Hwuyung, "The obscure man;" Ta'ang-chow t'un' ung, "The concealed gentleman of Ts'ang-chow;" Yun kuh laou jin, "The old man of the cloudy valley," and Tsze yang, from the name of his study. As a rule, high sounding or felicitous names are chosen for the "ming" and "tsze," and as generally the psedonymes adopted by authors bead depreciator ymeanings, or references to their dwellings, as may be gathered from the instance given above. For example, we meet with such "ming" as "The fairy guest," "The pacifier of the age," or "The shield of the empire," while among the pseudonyms we find "The dull scholar," "The obscure student," "The stupid old man"names which, it is needless to remark, are far from indicating humility on the part of those who select them.

It is worth noting that in the relative placing of the name and surname the Chinese practice is the reverse of ours. They put the surname first; we place it last. They say Smith John, whereas we say John Smith.

Gas Pipe Lines to Distribute Power. The attention of electrical engineers has been attracted to the prospective use of the gas engine on a vast scale for the generation and transmission of power. Mr. George Westinghouse believes that a great saving of expense as compared with present methods would result from the distribution of power by means of gas generated at central points and conveyed in pipes along the lines of railways for the operation of gas engines and electric generators. He suggests the installation of such a system in connection with the electrical equipment of railways, especially metropolitan and suburban lines; and also the use of fuel gas and gas engines to supply light and power for the whole of Manhattan island.—Youth's Companion.
